TARGETED CARE

What is it?

- DHA wide effort to maximize efficiency of limited Behavioral Health Resources where they are needed most.
- Creates a screening process that better identifies needs of the service member and gets them to the appropriate resource.
- Increases group therapy which enables more service members to receive treatment than individual appointments.

DOES:

- Increases access to care for service members in need.
- Decreases wait time for Behavioral Health appointments.
- Ensures cooperation between several resources ensuring service members do not “fall through the cracks.”

DOES NOT:

- Turn service members away.
- “Pass the buck” to an unqualified agency
- Eliminate individual therapy for service members in need.
